“Wind Beneath My Wings”

It must have been cold there in my shadow,
To never have sunlight on your face.
You've been content to let me shine;
You always walked the step behind.
I was the one with all the glory,
While you were the one with all the strength.
Only a face without a name,
I never once heard you complain.
Did you ever know that you're my hero,
And everything I'd like to be?
I can fly higher than an eagle,
'Cause you are the wind beneath my wings.
It might have appeared to go unnoticed,
That I've got it all here in my heart.
I want you to know I know the truth,
I would be nothing without you.

Junior Class 1990

Cari Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orren and Janet Simpson, was selected by the junior class to represent them during homecoming week and at the Homecoming festivities as the junior class Homecoming princess.

When Cari was asked how she felt about being the junior class princess she replied, "I was proud and excited to represent the junior class. It was a fun night, that I will remember and cherish forever."

Princess Cari Simpson

This year's junior float was based on the fairy tale concerning the Three Little Pigs. This was in conjunction with the student council theme selected for the homecoming festivities, parade, and pep assembly.

The float building took place at Andrea Quain's house. Mrs. Quain was responsible for furnishing the workers with hot dogs after a work period. This period of time was greatly appreciated by all involved and is a good memory and possible the "best part" of the float building.

Cari Simpson is escorted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orren and Janet Simpson.

Officers Take Charge

The 1990-1991 Junior Class was led by those who have had experience directing the class activities from previous years.

The junior class officers for the year were president Kelly Andrews, vice-president Chris Houck, secretary Kim Schroyer, and treasurer Amy Fogarty.

The year required good leadership, and class sponsor, Miss Sue Rutledge, believes the class got just that from the four officers.

The start of the school year was not even a month old when the officers had to direct the class, with the assistance of the steering committee, through homecoming float building activities.

One of the biggest leadership roles was needed when the maintenance and operation of the concession stand at all varsity football games began. This proved to be the biggest money making exercise for the class treasury.

Just about every junior will remember the successful and enjoyable Junior Prom that took place in February. Most remember it with pride and as a rewarding experience.

The class officers led. The class was successful.

Junior Excitement

Tom Kott concentrates as he makes an "Athlete's Choice" poster in marketing class.

Kim Schroyer makes a careful incision while dissecting her pig in advanced biology.

Juniors On Their Way

What is it like to be a junior?

Junior Brian Lucas considered the question and came up with some thoughts. They may not be what every one else thinks, but they seem typical. We include them here:

"I feel good about being a junior this year. I am no longer in the lower half in seniority. I am in the top half."

"There seem to be many more opportunities and possibilities as you get older, that I didn't have before."

"I feel really good knowing that next year is my senior year and that I will be graduating from Marysville High."

Shawn Webb works hard as she gets all the air bubbles out of her clay before beginning a ceramic project.

Because John Pewarchie begged us, we display his pride and joy, his famous pickup, "the Bib 10".

Marc King, Liz Bushey, and Bill Hartman take a break after working hard at Hungry Howies.

Brad Bunch, Bill Hartman, Jason Melms, Chris Schneider, and Mike Sanderson get dressed up (?).

Bob Delgoff has muffler problems that have to be taken care of before he leaves the parking lot.

Teri Force, Shelley Tomalo, Katie Gerenz, Jennifer Niederhauser and Lisa Maynard enjoy the prom.

"Because I Love You"

The song "Because I Love You" was this year's theme song for the Junior Prom.

Sophomores - Class of 1993

This year's Sophomore class has participated in a number of different projects. They sold candy bars, took second place in float building, they won the tug-of-war at a pep assembly and all around stuck together as a class.

Sophomore class advisor, Mr. David Schmorow, stated, "the Sophomore class showed a lot of growth this year, the response to class projects was exceptional. During our candy sales we sold three times as much as last year.

We produced a float better than most senior class floats. The other advisors and I are proud of them and have a lot of fun working with the kids."

The Sophomores that worked at float building had a good time and worked together to make a great float. A lot of sophomores have said that they are aiming for first place in next year's float building.

"The difference from being a freshman and being a sophomore is I feel more confident walking through the halls. When I was a freshman, I felt that we were all in our own little world. Being a sophomore, I have met a lot of upper classmen. When I was a freshman, I didn't have many older friends. Also, I'm not afraid of 'Freshman Kill Day,'" stated Gail Eschenberg when asked what it was like being a sophomore.

A New Batch Of Freshmen

The freshmen year in high school is always a beginning, no matter what.

All things, or most things, are new.

The freshmen class officers: President Patty Pozios, Vice-President Lindsey Clayton, Secretary Amy Farrer, and Treasurer Laura Kott had to begin class leadership as the elected officers of their class. A leadership seminar at the tech center, early in the year, helped them get their feet wet.

Mrs. Gaye Venia, the class advisor, said, "The freshmen were very excited about doing activities at the school this year."

Those activities included fund raisers, homecoming float building, and adjusting to high school life.

Freshmen comments were as follow:

"My first impression was that I never wanted to go to high school, but since I got here I love it."

"It sure is a big change from the junior high. Now you are capable of making your own decisions and that makes you feel a lot older."

"I like high school a lot. There are a lot more opportunities. Plus, I feel much more grown up."

"High school is tons of fun."

"A lot of teachers care about you here."

"I look forward to the short three years of school that are left."

Frosh Float Captures Third Place

This year's Freshmen class worked very hard on their float. They were organized and creative with their theme "Burn The Saints".

When talking about the Freshmen float, Mrs. Gaye Venia, the Freshman class advisor, said, "I was really impressed with the amount of enthusiasm and the high participation rate. The students made everything better with their creativity. It made it fun for me to work with kids who really wanted to be successful."

Some of the Freshman workers there said, "It was good to do something as a class with such a positive result."

Homecoming Princess Amy Farrer

Amy Farrer was the 1991 Freshman class Homecoming Princess.

When Amy found out she was on the Homecoming Court she was very excited and happy. Amy was grateful towards her classmates for choosing her to represent their class.

Amy said, "I will never forget my mom helping me get all dressed up. Another thing I will remember is walking in front of the school in the procession on Friday night."

About the Homecoming dance and Freshman float, Amy said, "The Homecoming Dance was a blast. The decorations were really pretty and I liked the video jockey. I think we should have more dances like that. Our float was really creative. I, personally, think we deserved better than third place. Building the float brought us together."

When Lindsey was elected to her position she was happy and very excited. She's also hopeful that her class will do some sort of project that will leave a lasting effect on the community.

Lori Kott is the treasurer for the 1994 freshman class. When commenting about her fellow officers she said, "Patty is going to be a good leader, Amy and Lindsey will fulfill their jobs as well. I hope to be a good help to everyone."

The school year began with the traditional homecoming festivities. October brought a student council Halloween candy sale.

December was a busy month. The council sponsored many Christmas activities that included a food drive, a clothing drive, Christmas caroling, a Christmas cookie sale, and a Red Cross Blood Drive that collected seventy-seven pints of blood.

This year's student council president was Ann Miller. The vice-president was Rob Staley; treasurer was Joanna Quaine, and the secretary was Amy French.

Yearbook Editors

1990-1991 Viking Yearbook

Amy Sommerville and Julie Parmann continually go over yearbook material as part of their co-editor job.

Julie Parmann and Amy Sommerville were the 1990-1991 co-editors of the Marysville Yearbook.

This was the third year in the class for both girls.

Amy commented, "Yearbook is a fun class but it gets confusing around deadline time".

Julie added, "Yearbook class is a lot of hard work but it has been fun and I've gained a lot of knowledge over the years. It was very rewarding".

Kelly Crocker

Sophomore, Kelly Crocker, was homecoming and sophomore editor. This was her second year on the yearbook staff.

Her responsibilities were to prepare the homecoming candid pictures as well as the sophomore class portraits.

Judy Goodmen

As a senior, Judy Goodmen was our yearbook ad editor. She has committed three years to the staff. Her responsibilities in the class were to lay out the ad section in the yearbook.

Judy is going to attend Western Michigan University next year for a degree in law.

Michelle Lang

Michelle Lang was the senior editor and managing editor. She has successfully completed two years of yearbook class.

Her responsibilities in the class were to do the senior section pages and to help other classmates complete their work.

Cathy MacKay

Cathy MacKay was the junior underclassmen editor. This was her second year working on the yearbook.

Her requirements for the 1991 yearbook were to lay out the underclassmen sections.

Yearbook Staff

A lot of fun.... hard work.... and a lot of memories to be shared.

Five years, ten years, even twenty years from now the yearbook will hold the memories of times we shared at Marysville High School.

The Viking Yearbook staff instructed by Mr. Schmorow worked hard to highlight the people, clubs, dances, events and teams that we will long remember.

Co-editors Amy Sommerville and Julie Parmann directed the staff and organized the yearbook to arrive at the end product.

This marked the second year in a row that the two were responsible for producing the book.

Amy Sommerville stated, "It was exciting to meet the challenge of meeting every deadline. They can be a real problem. It was fun to design something that people will look back on for the rest of their lives."

Senior Editor, the person responsible for publishing the senior section of the yearbook, sixteen pages in color, Michelle Lang performed, according to

Mr. Schmorow, "a super job."

Senior Judy Goodman organized, directed, and published the entire advertising section. "This is important," Mr. Schmorow said, "because it finances about one-third of the cost of the yearbook. Judy did an excellent job."

Students Against Driving Drunk

SADD is a nationwide organization of students against driving drunk. This group of students encourages other students not to drive while under the influence of alcohol.

They are trying to stop the alcohol related accidents and fatalities that result from drinking and driving.

Every year SADD puts together the luminaries that the city of Marysville lights up on Christmas Eve.

The officers are president Anna Miller, vice president Linda Perukel, secretary Tracey Moore and treasurer Heather Arnold.

They are sponsored by Officer Mark Thorner. Marysville's SADD chapter is getting bigger each year. Hopefully we all will get their message and listen.

Student Teacher Miss Donna Webber, while working with Ms. Beverly Butler, assists a student in an English class.

Student Teachers: On Their Way--Education the Goal

The first semester of the school year found the staff with two student teachers.

A student teacher is a future teacher completing four or five years of college training. A semester of student teaching, instructing a class with the assistance of a tenured teacher, is necessary to complete the career requirements.

Miss Gretchen DenUyl, a former Marysville student, was a student teacher for Mrs. Jan Lomasney. Miss DenUyl was a French instructor.

Miss DenUyl had been attending Western Michigan University for four years. She graduated in December, a teacher, after completing her service at Marysville.

Part of her education included two-and-a-half months at Le Institut de L'ange Catholique in France.

After graduation, Miss DenUyl hopes to teach French at the high school level.

When asked why she wanted to be a teacher, she said, "I enjoy being with kids and being a part of the students' learning. Also, I'm glad that I'll have a say in what's going on in the future."

Miss DenUyl also had some advice for those who are going to go on to college. She said, "Be the best you can in high school because college is getting a lot harder."

Miss Donna Webber was a student teacher working with Miss Beverly Butler. She is an English instructor.

Miss Webber graduated from Central Michigan University after completing her service at Marysville.

As part of her education, Miss Webber was an exchange student to Belgium on the college level.

After graduation, Miss Webber hoped to find a teaching position somewhere out of state.

At another time she asked, "What is a soul?"

"No one knows," I replied, "but we know it is not the body, and it is that part of us which thinks and loves and hopes....(and) is invisible..."

"But if I write what my soul thinks," she said, "then it will be visible, and the words will be its body."

-Annie Sullivan, 189
